

Acknowledgement

I must pay my deepest and heartiest gratitude to my teacher and guide Prof. P. K. Basu, Department of Botany, North Bengal University for his out and out care and encouraging guidance during the present investigation.

I feel greatly indebted to Prof. P. K. Sarkar, Head of the Department of Botany, NBU, Prof. B. N. Chakraborty and Prof. A.P. Das, Department of Botany, NBU and Smt. R. Bhutia, Sericulture Research Centre, Kalimpong for their valuable suggestions whenever asked for.

I am indebted to Mr. S. Pakarin, Vaidya, 16th Mile, Kalimpong, Mr. P. Sharma, Vaidya, Malle Bazar, Sikkim, Mr. M. Khawas, Vaidya Darjeeling and Dr. S. Thakur, Kalimpong Hospital for their valuable suggestions in connection with herbal medicines, traditionally used by the local people. I am thankful to Dr. A. M. Mukherjee, A.D.M., Department of Forestry, Kalimpong for providing eco-geographical information about the region.

I am also thankful to Mr. M. Pandey and Mr. G. Pradhan for taking pain in typing the manuscript of the thesis.

Acknowledgement is due to Mr. S. Diyali, (Kodak) Kalimpong for assisting me in connection with the photography related to research work.

Prof. M. M. Hilal, Department of Pharmacognosy, Cairo University is being thankfully acknowledged for providing authentic sample of steroidal constituents.

I acknowledge with thanks to Dr. A. Majumder, Scientific Officer, Department of Chemistry NBU. and CDRI, Lucknow for providing IR spectrum in connection with chemical analysis of natural products.

At this auspicious moment I must convey my deepest regards to Mrs. R. Basu Ramkrishna Sarani, who inspired me up always to achieve this success.

Last but not the least, I would like to express my best regards to my devoted mother, Smt. Chandramaya Thapa and also to my mama, Late Sri, P.M. Thapa.

Dated : 15TH MARCH '2001

Bhantu Gautam
(Bhantu Gautam)
Pharmacognosy Res. Lab
Department of Botany
University of North Bengal