

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I am very grateful to my Supervisor, Dr. Ranajit Kumar Bhadra, Professor, Department of Sociology, University of North Bengal. The present study would not have seen the light of the day without his active help and guidance. Though Dr. Bhadra is very busy with different types of work, he has spared a considerable time for me. I express my sincere gratitude to Dr. (Mrs) Mita Bhadra and other teachers of the Department for their co-operation and assistance. My sincere thanks are due to the staffs of the North Bengal University Library for their valuable assistance.

I am grateful to the staffs of the Confidential Section of the office of the District Magistrate, Balurghat, Dakshin Dinajpur for their valuable assistance in providing secondary data.

I am grateful to the authority of the Tagore Society for Rural Development who has given me the permission for conducting the study in few of their target villages. I also express my gratitude to the staffs of the Tagore Society for Rural Development; specially to Mr. Tarun Chatterjee and Mr. Nitai Ghosh, village level staffs of the Society who helped me in the field survey, without their help collection of useful data would be very difficult.

I also sincerely acknowledge the help and co-operation of the Medical Officers of the Block Primary Health Centre and Malancha Primary Health Centre and few quacks and traditional healers of the study area.

I was gratified to receive very encouraging response from the tribals of the villages studied. Lastly, my special thanks are due to Lalmoni Oraon, Chumani Oraon and Suren Biha for their constant help to me during the period of field work.
