

Acknowledgement

I owe a deep sense of gratitude to my supervisor Dr. (Mrs.) Manjulika Ghosh for everything she has done for me in the way of inspiring, helping and providing invaluable guidance and also in improving my style and expression. But for her I could not have completed this project. Dr. Ghosh who retired as a Professor in the Department of Philosophy, University of North Bengal in 2006, helped me in choosing the specific area of my work which is a further development of my M. Phil. Dissertation. The Supervisor of my M. Phil. Dissertation was Dr. Gautam Biswas who is now a Professor in the Department of Philosophy of Assam University, Silchar. In fact the first impetus to treat the speech act theory came from them. I am fortunate enough to have such wonderful teachers as my supervisors for the Ph. D. and M. Phil. Dissertations.

I cannot forego the pleasure of thanking my teachers in the Philosophy specially for their encouragement to think of, or to remember philosophy as something more than the preoccupation of specialists.

My heartfelt thanks go to Professor Raghunath Ghosh, Head of the Department of Philosophy and Director, SAP (U.G.C.) for his kind words of encouragement. He told me that the word-world relationship can be studied from the perspective of Indian Philosophy which could be delved into in my project. But I could not make it a part of work due to sheer want of time. I sincerely wish to take up the study in an opportune moment.

As an alumnus of the Department of Philosophy of this University I remember Late Prof. Chinmoy Goswami who later joined the Department of Philosophy of Hyderabad University and Late Professor Chandidas Bhattacharya for many interaction I had with them. I am also grateful for their courtesy and kindness.

Thanks are due also to Dr. J. C. Basak, Teacher-in-Charge, Departmental Library, Philosophy for allowing me to avail of library services. I am specially benefited by consulting the books procured under the SAP, by the Director, Professor Raghunath Ghosh.

A paper of mine entitled “Austin’s Concept of Performative as An Attempt Towards Conjoining Language and Reality” allied to my research work was published in the SAP volume on Language and Ontology. I acknowledge my debt to the editor, Dr. Kanti Lal Das for this kind gesture. I also wish to put on record the graciousness of Professor Raghunath Ghosh for allowing me to present papers related to my topic in the National Seminars held in the Department under the SAP.

I am indeed grateful to the University Grants Commission for granting me three years’ leave under F.I.P. I am also obliged to Dr. Manjuri Biswas, Principal, Thakur Panchanan Mahila Mahavidyalaya, Cooch Behar to allow me to avail of this opportunity.

I thank the Librarian, Officers and Staff of the North Bengal University Central Library for providing me all kinds of facility in connection with my research work.

I am grateful to my loving younger brother Mr. Joyanta Singh and my sister-in-law Mrs. Neeta Singh for their graceful hospitality during my stay at Siliguri in connection with my work.

To my husband, Mr. Dharendra Bahadur Singh, and young daughter, Rajeshwari Singh, I stand in personal gratitude for emotional support and encouragement. I specially thank my young daughter and my nephew Kunal Singh who wondered what I was doing when I inexplicably scribbled away those many afternoons and evenings depriving them of my company.

I thank my fellow researchers S. M. Rakibuj Zaman and Sushovan Deb Barman as well as senior M. Phil student Anup Das for helping me in innumerable ways.

I thank Sri Mayukh Dutta of the Departmental Seminar Library for his co-operation.

I dedicate the work to my parents acknowledging a daughter's debt to them.

I thank Mr. Sudhangshu Kr. Das of Computer Link, Shibmandir for composing, printing and binding the thesis in a presentable manner. I also thank all those whom I cannot individually name for their wishes and help.
