

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I have received a great deal of emotional and intellectual support while conducting the study and writing my dissertation. For every person acknowledged here, many others go unmentioned. I am grateful to all of them.

From the academic perspective, I express my deep sense of gratitude to my Supervisors, Prof. Pradip Kr. Sengupta and Prof. Md. Yasin of the Department of Political Science for their constant inspiration. They not only provided me with the sufficient inputs for further probing of the subject but also tried to satisfy me with answers to all my questions. It was their keen interest and sustained pressure that forced me to complete the present work and as such the dissertation owes much to them. They instilled in me confidence with the words: 'you can make it!' yes, Sirs, with your help at last, I have made it! Credit, if any for this completion goes to you Sirs.

I would like to express my gratitude to Madam Dr. Srinanda Dasgupta and Madam Dr. Shipra Sengupta whose friendly inspiration and encouragement played an important role in completing my dissertation.

I am also thankful to the former Vice-Chancellor, North Bengal University (N. B. U), Prof. P.K Saha for his encouragement and support. I would also like to acknowledge the inspiration and encouragement that I received from all the teachers of the Department of Political Science, N.B.U. I am grateful to Prof. S. De., who wanted me to complete this work as fast as possible. I am also thankful to Prof. Manas Chakraborty, Dept. of Political Science, for his help and kind support.

I am particularly grateful to the, Centre of Ambedkar Studies (Department of Philosophy) for I was allowed to use their valuable sources on Dr. Ambedkar. I must mention that Prof. R. N Ghosh, Dean Faculty of Arts, Commerce and Law, Dr. J.C. Basak and other teachers of the same department helped me in a substantial way. Dr. Basak was very much kind to me when he helped me with his personal collections on Dr. Ambedkar.

My indebtedness is also due to the staff of several libraries, such as, University Central Library, Seminar library, Dept. of Political Science, Ambedkar Collections at Gaur College, Malda, National library, Kolkata, library of Aligarh Muslim University, Centre of Ambedkar Studies (Department of Philosophy), library of JNU , New Delhi, for making available the needed materials with promptness and care.

I am indebted to my parents who have inspired me in the study and to strive for excellence. Without their blessings I would not have completed my work. I am also thankful for the encouragement and support which I got from my brother and sisters.

No word will be adequate to express my gratitude to my husband who himself is a brilliant academic personality. In spite of his heavy administrative responsibilities, he tried his best to create an academic environment at home so that I could proceed along with my doctoral assignment. He was not only very supportive and encouraging throughout the period of my study but also helped me in deriving valuable insights during the research. I owe this dissertation to him.

At this point, I must mention the kind of support I received from my daughter who showed the utmost maturity in reconciling herself with the conditions when I could not pay the attention she needed. On the contrary, she showed her eagerness to see that the work is completed within the stipulated period, otherwise 'teachers would scold me'! My blessings are always with you my child!

Finally, on successful completion of this dissertation, I bow in solemn gratitude to the Almighty.
