No research work ever grows full-bloom from the scholar alone. Although the work and the witting came from the researcher, many people had stretched their hands giving valuable advice, guidance and above all endless support and encouragements. The endeavor will remain incomplete without mentioning at least a line about those people.

At the out set, I pay my homage and special gratitude to Professor Arunabha Basu Majumdar, Vice Chancellor, University of North Bengal, who had not only extended his invaluable assistances but also enriched me with precious advice and suggestions.

Then, I am overwhelmingly indebted and sincerely grateful to my supervisor, Dr. Debabrata Mitra, Reader in Commerce, University of North Bengal, who spared his valuable time and helped me immensely in the formulation of my ideas. I offer my most cordial admiration to him for the appropriate guidance, indispensable advice and strong support not only from academic point of view but also from every sphere of the total research work. I have derived innumerable benefits from his comments and observations. I owe my deep allegiance to Dr. Mitra for evaluating my thesis at the various levels against his vast knowledge and experiences.

I convey my unreserved and heartfelt recognition to the librarian and other staffs of the Central Library of the University of North Bengal for providing the facilities for doing the research. I pay my special thanks to the librarians and other personnel of the 'National Library, Kolkata'; 'Commercial Library, Kolkata'; 'Indian Statistical Institute, Kolkata'; 'American Institute, Kolkata'; 'Reserve Bank of India, Kolkata' and all the libraries of other Universities of West Bengal. Nevertheless, I am especially grateful to the librarian and staffs of the 'Indian Institute of Management, Kolkata' for sharing their priceless knowledge.

Now I remember with gratitude all the chief executives and officers of the 'Agricultural Insurance Company of India Ltd., Kolkata' and 'General Insurance Corporation of India, Kolkata' where the study was conducted, for their inputs and involvements, which was most crucial for the present research work. I would like to place on record my sincere thanks to each and every one for lending their helping hands for providing me all the requisite data and other supports for the research work.

I would also like to express most substantial thanks to my brother Sudipta for his valuable inputs and technical supports, without which the critical statistical analysis would not be successfully completed.

I also place on record my appreciation to all my colleagues of Samsi College, friends, relatives and well wishers for their direct and indirect contributions to complete the thesis.

Finally, I am indebted for all the boons and graces given by my respected parents who have been constantly encouraging me to complete my PhD research. It would be very difficult to assess the full importance of the support given by my wife and little daughter. When I was let down, it was them who encouraged me to complete the research work.

Above all, I would like to dedicate my total endeavor to late Professor Santiram Chatterjee who has been a constant source of inspiration for me. It was him who moulded me to become a teacher through his wisdom and paradigm. I am grateful to him for all the blessings he showered upon me in every time and I bow my head before him.
