

Acknowledgement

The completion of the present thesis has made me obliged to so many persons to acknowledge whom individually is not possible here. However, the help of at least a few of them must be mentioned here.

First of all, I express my deep gratitude to my supervisor, Dr. Tanka B. Subba, formerly Senior Lecturer at the Centre for Himalayan Studies, North Bengal University and now Reader in Anthropology, North Eastern Hill University, Shillong. He not only suggested the present topic but also guided me at every state. Professor Gopal Singh Nepali had also given me some guidance when he was a Visiting Professor at the Centre for Himalayan Studies. His departure for Tribhuwan University, Kathmandu deprived me of an experienced guide.

Col. John Morris's book published in 1938 was an invaluable source material for me. Prof. Ashin Dasgupta, Director of National Library in Calcutta, was kind enough to send me the micro-film of this book and Mr. G. Tshering, Director, Library of Tibetan Works and Archives, Dharamsala, kindly arranged to get it printed for me. I am thankful to both of them.

For arranging the permit to visit Dzongu, I shall ever remain indebted to Hon'ble Minister, Sonam Dupden Lepcha and his wife, Mrs. Mingma Lepcha for going out of their way to help me out. In this regard, I should also express my thanks to Mr. Sangay Basi, the District Collector, and Mr. S. Lepcha, the Subdivisional Magistrate at Mangan, North Sikkim, for their kind cooperation.

In Lingthem, the following persons are warmly regarded for their help and hospitality: Choden, Chanang, Y.T. Lepcha, S. B. Lepcha, Lhoden, Norden, D.T. Lepcha, Namgyal and Kinga.

My sincere thanks are also due to my father, who not only checked my transliteration but also accompanied me to Lingthem once. For emotional support, I am thankful to my elder sister, Mrs. Roshan Taneja and brother-in-law, Sqn. Ldr. N. K. Taneja. My daughter, Tarona, had to endure my ill-attention at often times for which also I have deep regrets.

Finally, I express my thanks to the Centre for Himalayan Studies for providing me with a fellowship without which the present thesis could not be completed. I am sincerely thankful to all its faculty and secretarial staff, particularly Dr. D.P.Boot for drawing the maps for me.
