

A C K N O W L E D G E M E N T S

I should, at the very outset, express my gratitude to the University authority for providing me with opportunities for pursuing my doctoral research in the Department of Sociology and Social Anthropology, University of North Bengal, Darjeeling. The work would not have been done had I not been fortunate enough to receive the constant help and encouragements from my supervisor, Prof. R.K. Bhadra, Department of Sociology and Social Anthropology, University of North Bengal, Darjeeling, to whom I am greatly indebted. Dr. (Mrs) Mita Bhadra of the Department of Sociology and Social Anthropology of North Bengal University will always be remembered as the person whose inspiration and blessing enabled me to take up the research work for which I am very much indebted and thankful.

My thanks are also due to Shri B.B. Barailly, K.B. Senyasi, K.P. Sharma, Dilip Rai, Mohan Thakuri, S. Khaling and L.M. Sharma for providing me with desired materials and valuable information. I am also very much thankful to the workers of Mungpoo Cinchona Plantation for their cooperation while conducting the field work.

I cannot help but put on record the help rendered by Dr. S.K. Chatterjee, Director of Cinchona and Other Medicinal Plants, Mungpoo by allowing me to consult the Mungpoo Library, Scientific Laboratory and Office Records. I would also like to express my gratitude to Dr. R.P. Nandi, Research and Development Officer, Mungpoo, for his help by allowing me to consult his personal library.

I owe my immense thanks to my wife, Sarita Sharma for her constant encouragement to stick to the present piece of research work for the last five years.

My thanks are also due to Shri M. Chakraborty who has typed my manuscript very meticulously in record time.

Finally, I thank Dr. Tapas Chatterjee, Registrar, University of North Bengal for his encouragement to complete the work in due time.
