

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It is my privilege to extend my gratitude to my teacher and supervisor Dr. A. P. Das, F.L.S., Professor, Department of Botany, University of North Bengal, who sensitized me what is plant science. His inspiration was the best motivation to do my work and without his guidance it was impossible for me to finish this dissertation work.

I would like to express my gratitude and thankfulness to the heads of the Department of Botany, University of North Bengal during my study period for extending necessary facilities to conduct my research work. I am also grateful to all the teachers in the Department of Botany, Prof. B.N. Chakraborty, Prof. P.K. Sarkar, Prof. U. Chakraborty, Dr. A. Saha, Dr. A. Sen, Dr. S.C. Roy, Dr. P. Mandal and Dr. M. Choudhury. I am also extending my thankfulness to all the office staffs and other staff members for their co-operation and to provide me a homely atmosphere in my place of work.

I am thankful to my philosopher teacher Prof. Milindo Chakrabarti, Sharda University for his contribution in my life as well as for inspiring me to finish this piece of work. I got the insight to realize the socio-ecological system from him. I am also thankful to International Forestry Resources and Institutions and Prof. Elinor Ostrom for providing necessary insights through their training to understand man-forest interface.

I express my thankfulness to all the Chief Conservator of Forests during my study to provide me necessary permission to carry on my studies at Buxa Tiger Reserve. I am also thankful to the Directors and Deputy Directors of Buxa Tiger Reserve for their co-operation. I've no word about the guidance and co-operation of different Range Officers at Jainti. I am grateful to all forest guards and other staff members of Jainti Range for their help in the field without which it was impossible for me work inside the forest for such a long time.

I can't forget Mr. Dolley Magar and his family for their moral support and security during my field study in the National Park area of Jainti. Dolley was my guide, teacher and helper in the forest. His ethnobotanical knowledge is really admirable. Other residents of Jainti like Mr. Ajoy Bhattacharjee, Mr. Shankar Chakraborty and Chacha who provided me all sorts of help during my field visits. I'm also grateful to other residents of Jainti as well as Bhutia Busty Bengal line and Nurpur for providing me necessary information during sociological studies.

I would like to extend my thanks to all co-scholars in the Plant Taxonomy and Environmental Biology Laboratory for their cordial help and co-operation during my entire period of study. My special thanks are to Dr. Chandra Ghosh for her relentless co-operation to fulfill all my necessities in laboratory. I am also grateful to Mr. Rajib Biswas for his continuous assistance in the process of identification of voucher specimens. My gratitude is expressed also to Ms. Ajita Sarkar, Mr. Kishor Biswas, Mr. Dibakar Biswas, Mr. Suman Nirola, Mr. Saurav Moktan, Mr. Anurag Chowdhury and Ms. Baisakhi Sarkar for their kind cooperation in different aspects. I am grateful to the laboratory assistants – Mr. Nabin Singha and Mr. Binod Singha – for their necessary help and care of my work. Huge task of processing and mounting specimens would not be possible without their cooperation and assistance. My special thanks to Mr. Tarun Mishra – ex-staff of the Department of Tea Science, N.B.U. and presently Range Officer in Volka Range, BTR – for his assistance in testing the soil samples and also for his positive mental support. Thanks are also for Mr. Binoy Kumar Patel for his encouragement to finish my task.

I am thankful to Mrs. Ruby Das, wife of Prof. A.P. Das for her motherly attitude and that provided me a homely environment. She also inspired me to continue the work like my elder sister.

I also extend my gratitude to my father Mr. Abhay Pada Sarkar and my elder sister Ms. Lipi Sarkar – for their inspiration to finish the task. Inspiration and sacrifice of my wife Sampa was unbelievable and the work has been finished due to her constant tolerance and encouragement. Last of all I am also grateful to my daughter Aranya for her courage to stay without her father for months after months.

I am grateful to all staff members of the University of North Bengal and specially of the Research Hostel and in the Establishment section. I would like to extend my gratitude to other numerous people who has contributed to finish this work but I failed to enumerate their names.

Animesh Sarkar
[ANIMESH SARKAR]

University of North Bengal

April 15, 2014