

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It was a great privilege for me to have the opportunity of doing a research work under The University of North Bengal. I am truly grateful to all concerned for their kind help and cooperation in course of completing this thesis.

First, I would like to express my deepest gratitude to my Supervisors, Dr. Chandanashis Laha, Dept. of English, the University of North Bengal, West Bengal and Dr Aniruddha Burmon, Dept. of English, B.Ed. Section, University BT & Evening College, Cooch Behar, West Bengal. Their scholarly advice, sincere assistance and guidance, strict supervision and finally their soothing words and encouragement always inspired me to move forward.

I am truly grateful to Dr. Kausik Pradhan, Assistant Professor & Head, Department of Agricultural Extension, Uttar Banga Krishi Viswa Vidyalaya for his sincere and spontaneous help and cooperation. His untiring assistance concerning statistical analysis of collected data will remain ever fresh in my mind. Words are not enough to express my gratitude to him.

I express my heartiest gratitude to Dr. Asis Kumar Singha Roy, Ex. Dean, Faculty of Agriculture, Uttar Banga Krishi Viswa Vidyalaya for his continual inspiration and cooperation in different ways.

I shall never forget my former students Sri Manab Das, and Sri Hasnath Sekh for their kind cooperation and sincere assistance. As I am physically weak owing to my cardiac ailments, they accompanied me during my field survey in all the districts of West Bengal and helped me in the capturing of images. I am grateful to them.

I am especially thankful and grateful to Sri Debkumar Ghosh, my most beloved former student, for his tireless assistance, cooperation, and continuous inspiration during the last few years of my work. His contribution to the work has left a mark on my mind.

I take delight to express my gratitude to the learned celebrity of Malda Town, Sri Tarun Kumar Goswami, formerly Headmaster and now the Secretary of Madhabnagar Badalmoni High School, Malda, which I serve as an Assistant Teacher. He is not only my colleague but also one of my guardians. His inspiration and cooperation will remain vivid in my mind forever.

I express my sincere gratitude to Sri Sunil Banerjee, the present Headmaster of Madhabnagar Badalmoni High School, Malda for his sincere and kind cooperation. I shall remain ever grateful to him. I am also grateful to all of my colleagues for their kind cooperation. I shall never forget them.

I acknowledge my debt to all the headmasters, teachers, and students of all the districts of West Bengal concerned with my work for extending their kind cooperation.

I do remember with deep esteem my beloved teacher, rather the pioneer of my academic life Late Sri Sarifuddin Ahmed, formerly Selection Grade Lecturer of Gour Mahavidyalaya, Malda, West Bengal who sparked in me the spirit of doing something new and dreaming such a sweet dream. Sadly, he is no more, but he is still fresh in my mind and will remain so forever.

A very special expression of gratitude is due to Sri Subhankar Das, who helped me a lot at the early days of my work and went on inspiring me.

At this moment, it is a joy to think of the happiness and pleasure of my elder brother Sri Prabir Kumar Sinha ('Chhorda') and eldest brother Sri Pranab Kumar Sinha ('Borda'), who is, in fact, next to my father. After the sad demise of our parents, 'Borda' is going on shouldering the whole responsibility of our joint family as does a banyan tree spreading its branches all around like an umbrella. It was my eldest brother, who enkindled in me the spirit of doing this research work aptly and fruitfully and went on encouraging me especially at the time of my depression. Not gratitude but felicity is what I find in conveying 'pranam' to my 'Borda' and 'Chhorda'.

I owe all the members of my family a lot for their cordial cooperation, loving care, and support. Their continual encouragement enabled me to keep up my earnest urge for completing this work. The selfless contributions and loving care of my three sisters-in-law (elder brothers' wives) and my wife can never be forgotten. Even my two little daughters did their utmost to assist me. It is really gratifying to share my joy with them.

I shall never forget my elder sister, Smt. Ratna Singha Roy, and brother-in-law, Sri Subrata Singha Roy, Asst. Teacher of Khagrabari Harendra Chandra Vidyamandir (High), Cooch Behar, who persistently cooperated with me in different ways from the beginning to the end of my strenuous job and encouraged me to sustain my spirit. I take delight to share my joy with them. I convey 'pranam' to them.

I am thankful to my son-in-law (husband of my niece) Sri Saikat Singha Roy, Asst. Teacher of Majdia Rail Bazar High School, Majdia, Nadia, who helped me a lot in different ways.

Finally, I would like go back a few years and be engrossed in brooding over the bygone days. My mother, Late Smt. Sabita Sinha and my father, Late Sri Sachindranath Sinha were then amongst us. I am choked up to reminisce how they inspired me, how eagerly they wanted me attain a Ph.D. degree, how my father, a former teacher of Rishipur High School, P.S. Habibpur, Malda, and the founder of a rural library, wished me to be a good teacher in the true sense of the term. They are no more to share with me the joy of concluding the task I was entrusted with. I find no words that can express my gratitude to them. The suppressed cries of my soul would certainly send my 'pranam' and feelings to them in the vast unknown world.
