

Acknowledgement

At the outset let me thank the Heads of the Department of Sociology and Social Anthropology, North Bengal University who were in chair during the period of my Ph.D. work. Thanks are also due to Prof.R.K.Bhadra, Dr.(Mrs.)N. Chowdhury, Dr.R.S.Mukhopadhyay, Dr.(Mrs.) S.Biswas and Dr.(Mrs.) M.Bhadra for their inspiration and encouragement to complete the thesis. Dr. S.Roy, Head of the Department at present, is specially thanked for providing necessary help. The facility received from the Department of Sociology and Social Anthropology, North Bengal University is duly acknowledged.

It is my pleasure to express a deep sense of gratitude to Prof.S.R.Mondal for his guidance and supervision.

It will be failing my duty if I do not express my sincere thanks to the inhabitants of the villages under study and the people who have taken slightest pain to provide me the information on different aspects of life.

I wish to thank some of the ex-students of the Department of Sociology and Social Anthropology who helped me in various capacities right from the selection of the Badia settlements.

I have been benefited from various scholars in the field of Sociology. Their constant inspiration, encouragement and critical comments are of immense help for me to complete the thesis in time. I do acknowledge their suggestions.

Indebtedness is also due to the authors of the books and articles referred in this thesis.

I would also like to thank Mr. S. Ganguly and Mr. P. S. Das for taking trouble in typing the thesis and meticulous checking of the draft.

I am highly indebted to my wife and son for their understanding and co-operation.
