The present study is the outcome of advice and encouragement that I received from my supervisor, Dr. Debika Saha. I wish to record my deep and sincere gratitude to my revered teacher. I remain indebted for her constant support and rigorous but constructive criticism on several points. She endured my many failings in explaining the research issues appropriately.

My sincere thanks are due to Indian Council of Philosophical Research, New Delhi for granting me junior research fellowship to complete my study. My thanks also go to ICPR, Lucknow for arranging accommodation during my Library consultation. I wish to thank Dr. Laxmikanta Padhi for his time to time advice and suggestions.

I am indebted to my family members, specially my husband Dr. Puspendu Chaki who is not only my soul-mate but also a constant companion all through my research work and whose constant encouragement has made the study possible.

I wish to thank Prof. Raghunath Ghosh , Prof. Jyotish Chandra Basak, , Prof. Kantilal Das, Dr. Koushik Joardar (Head of the Dept.) , Dr. Anirban Mukherjee and Dr. N. Ramthing for their valuable suggestions. I am offering my thanks also to Dr. Nirmal Kumar Roy and Smt. Swagata Ghosh, members of the faculty.

I wish to pay my homage to my late father Sri N. C. De who always supported my research work. I want to record my respect to my mother who uses to stay by my side silently all through my endeavor. Last but not the least I wish to express my love to the little baby 'Naitick' who was a constant source of inspirations in spite of his disturbances during my writings. I would like to acknowledge with thanks the help given to me in North Bengal by the Staffs of North Bengal University Library.

I owe my special thanks to Mr. Santanu Mondal for his earnest cooperation and also thank printers for binding the type scripts within a very short period. Despite the support of various people many short comings may remain and for this I am alone responsible.
