

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

First of all I express gratefulness to the Government of India for awarding me scholarship to pursue Ph. D. degree in Commerce and other supports for this study. I am also grateful to University of Rajshahi for granting me the study leave.

I specially acknowledge the valuable services of my supervisor Professor Palas R. Sengupta, Department of Commerce, University of North Bengal who had been very sympathetic and helpful to me in carrying out my research all through. I can humbly say that without his encouragement, valuable suggestion and instructions it would not have been possible for me to complete the research work. My sincere thanks are due to him.

I gratefully acknowledge the works of those researchers, authors and scholars from whose works I have been benefited in conducting the study.

I am indebted to University of North Bengal for allowing me to pursue this programme and providing necessary assistance. I am also grateful to the Department of Commerce for extending cordial co-operation in all respect.

I express my deep sense of gratitude to those employees of Syampur Sugar Mills Ltd., Rajshahi Sugar Mills Ltd., Nator Sugar Mills Ltd., Rangpur Sugar Mills Ltd. and Joypurhat Sugar Mills Ltd. who showed keen interest in the subject matter of my study and helped me to carry out this study by offering themselves as subjects. I owe a great deal to Managing Directors of the sugar mills who gave me necessary permission and extended generous cooperation, I needed for this study. I am also grateful to Bangladesh Sugar and Food Industries Corporation (BSFIC) for necessary information and co-operation for my study.

I also gratefully acknowledge the invaluable help and co-operation extended to me by the officers and staffs of different libraries and institutions such as Indian Institute of Management Library, Kolkata, National Library, Kolkata, Bangladesh Institute of Development Studies Library, Dhaka, Institute of Business Administration Library, Dhaka, British Council Library, Dhaka, USIS Library, Dhaka, Rajshahi University Library, Rajshahi.

I am grateful to Dr. Md. Abdul Hannan Shaikh, Associate Professor, Department of Management, Islamic University of Bangladesh for his co-operation and suggestions on analysis of data and using Statistical Package for Social Science (SPSS).

I express my heartfelt thanks to all my colleagues in the Department of Management, University of Rajshahi, Bangladesh for their valuable suggestions and encouragement for my study.

I would like to thank to fellow scholars whose cooperation, assistance and accompany supported me in different way, especially to Mr. Khondaker Emamul Haque, Mr. Md. Sahadat Hossain Mahmud, Mr. A. F. M. Manjur Kadir, Mr. Mastafa Hasssan, Mr. Ruhul Amin Sarkar and Mr. Md. Musharaf Hossain Bhuiyan.

My sincere thanks to all other friends, well wishers whose help and blessing encouraged me all along in completing the research.

Finally, I would like to acknowledge the support extended by my parents, brothers, wife and son for all my works and achievement.
