

P R E F A C E

The present dissertation is a revised version of an earlier one, submitted for the Ph.D. (Arts) degree in Political Science of the North Bengal University.

The revision has been made in the light of the suggestions kindly offered by one of the adjudicators of the earlier version, for improving the earlier thesis under reference. The author of this dissertation is indeed, grateful for these suggestions.

A sincere attempt has, however, been made to improve this thesis as far as possible in the light of the aforesaid suggestions.

The author expresses his gratitude to Dr. S. N. Bhattacharya, Head of the Department of Humanities, Jalpaiguri Government Engineering College, West Bengal and the supervisor of this thesis, for his guidance, help and cooperation at every stage in the completion of the present project.

He is also grateful to the "Adjudicators" of the earlier version of this thesis.

He is also thankful to Sri Dulal Nandi who has taken all the troubles to type the manuscript of the present dissertation.

Thanks are also due to the authorities of the North Bengal University for the facilities extended to the present author in the completion of this dissertation.
