

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

First and foremost, I would like to express my heartfelt thanks to my research advisor Dr. Kanchan Datta, Associate Professor, Department of Economics, University of North Bengal for his continuous support and advice during doctoral research endeavor for the past four years. As my supervisor he has constantly encouraged and forced me to complete the thesis. I am highly indebted to my co-supervisor professor Chandan Kumar Mukhopadhyaya because his guidance and constant supervision helped me in all the time of research work and in writing the thesis. From him I have learned to think critically, to choose the problems and sort out the problems and to present their solutions.

I would like to express my special gratitude and thanks to all the faculty members of Economics Department, NBU for their invaluable insights and suggestions to enrich my thesis. My sincere gratitude is reserved for Dr. Dilip De Sarkar for his constant encouragement and forced me to complete the thesis. I appreciate the help rendered by the staff of Indian Statistical Institute, Kolkata who have provided me various issues on International Financial Statistics of different years. I would like to express my deepest sense of gratitude to my Vice-Chancellor Professor Anil Bhumali for his kind co-operation and necessary information in completing the thesis.

I express my deepest sense of gratitude to my parents who have made me what today I am, and to my wife and my sole son Priyabrata who have given continuous support throughout my research work. I would like to express my gratitude to all the teachers who have taught me at school and college levels.

I would like to acknowledge my gratitude to the most important person in my academic life – my wife Smt. Mohuya Saha. She has been a constant source of my strength and inspiration. I can honestly say that it was only her determination and constant encouragement that ultimately made it possible for me to complete my research work. Finally this thesis is dedicated to my mother late Smt. Supriya Saha.

My heartfelt thanks to all my friends, students and well wishers for their good wishes.
