

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

No one who achieves success does so without acknowledging the help of others. I take this opportunity to acknowledge the help, support and cooperation of all those, without whom the present study could not see the light of day. The present 'Critical Study of the Legal Framework for Protection of Musical Copyright in India' is a culmination of an intellectual journey and a collaborative process that has benefited from countless discussions on the topic from various corners. It is indeed a wonderful opportunity for me to express my heartfelt appreciation for my Supervisor, Prof. (Dr.) Gangotri Chakraborty for her invaluable guidance, comments, advice and suggestions while I was deliberating on the subject matter. Words would fail to express my deep gratitude towards her. Her fondness not only on matter of law, but also on different other fields kept me informed of the recent developments of law in the respective fields and gave more inspiration. Her benevolent guidance, constructive criticism and valuable suggestions through the course of this work have enriched the study.

What I am today and whatever little success I have been able to achieve is all because of the constant moral and mental support of my parents. My heart gets filled with immense joy and pride whenever I get an opportunity to acknowledge the contribution of my Maa and Baba. My exhaustion gets vaporised when I feel their blessings cascading upon me. In this occasion

It would do totally injustice in this juncture if I fail to acknowledge the tremendous support from all my beloved friends. The unparalleled encouragement as well as the prayer and blessings from Dr. Shampa Dev, Ms. Vidya Ann Jacob, Ms. Mangala Hiwarale, Ms. Ashwini R, Mr. Anuja Rohi, Mr. Gagan K, Mr. Sourav Mandal deserves special mention. The numerous discussion on various nuances of copyright law with Ms. Vasundhara Kamath has improved the present study. I profoundly thank her for all the critical suggestions.
