

APPENDIX A

Rebels from Meerut at Delhi write to their friends elsewhere that they have proclaimed Bahadur Shah the king and invite to join their cause.
