

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Completing my PhD degree is probably the most challenging activity of the first 33 years of my life. I wish to express my sincere appreciation to those who have contributed to this thesis and supported me in one way or the other during this amazing journey.

To commence with, I pay my obeisance to GOD, the almighty to have bestowed upon me good health, courage, inspiration, zeal and the light. After God, I am extremely grateful to my research guide, Prof. (Dr.) Gangotri Chakraborty, Professor and Former Head, Department of Law, North Bengal University, for her valuable guidance, scholarly inputs and consistent encouragement I received throughout the research work. A person with an amicable and positive disposition, She has always made herself available to clarify my doubts despite her busy schedules. She has also taught me another aspect of life that, “goodness can never be defied and good human beings can never be denied.” Her constant guidance, cooperation, motivation and support have always kept me going ahead. I owe a lot of gratitude to her for always being there for me and I feel privileged to be associated with a person like her during my life.

I am also indebted to Late Prof. Bishnu Prasad Dwivedi who inspired me a lot and also supported me a lot from when I got registered as a Ph.D scholar in Law in the University of North Bengal. But it is my misfortune that he is no more in this world to see me complete my research.

I owe my special thanks to Prof. (Dr.) Rathin Bandopadhyay, Head, Department of Law and Head Department of Management, University of North Bengal and Dr. Sujit Kumar Biswas, Assistant Professor, Department of Law, University of North Bengal for their advises and suggestions which helped me to develop a 'liking' for research which is fundamental requisite for any research scholar.

I am extremely thankful to Mr. Santanu Chanda, Assistant Librarian of Law and Mr. Amal Dhar, the library staff for their hearty assistance in searching out the relevant study materials for the present work.

I owe my deepest gratitude towards my better half Dr. Pukhraj Agarwal for his eternal support and understanding my goals and aspirations. His infallible love and support has always been my strength. His patience and sacrifice beside his busy schedule will remain my inspiration throughout my life. Without his help, I would not have been able to complete much of what I have done and become who I am. I am also thankful to my son Pranjal Agarwal for giving me happiness at all times. I thank God for blessing me with a child like him. He was one month old when I wrote my course work theory exam and when I got registered as a Ph.D. scholar; he was fourteen months old. As calm and composed now he was then. His charming face and pleasant smile always kept me going and motivated me to accomplish my goals.

As always it is impossible to mention everybody who had an impact to this work, however there are those whose spiritual support is even more important. Words prove a meager media to write down my feelings for my mother Smt. Usha Devi Agarwal and my father Adv. Shri Jagannath Agarwal, for believing in me and inspiring me to do well in life.

I am also grateful to my mother-in-law Smt. Ranjana Devi Agarwal, my father-in-law Shri. Pawan Kr. Agarwal, my brother-in-law Bharat Agarwal and my sister-in-law Sonia Agarwal Lakhota, who formed part of my vision and taught me good things that really matter in life.

I would also like to thank Ms. Indrani Kundu, for all her help and support during the final stages of my thesis. Without her help, the most critical part of submission of my thesis would not have been accomplished.

Finally, I am thankful to all those who have directly or indirectly helped me in completion of this work.
