

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I would like to take this opportunity to express my deep and sincere indebtedness to a number of individuals and institutions without whose help and encouragement this study would not have been possible. My profound gratitude to Dr. D.J. Bhaumik, Prof., Department of Political Science, University of North Bengal, for his very sympathetic and careful guidance and supervision from the very inception of my work. Without his constant encouragement and cooperation it would not have been possible on my part to complete the research work. I would like to express my gratefulness to other teachers of the Department of Pol. Science, NBU, for their warm inspiration and good wishes. I am indebted to Dr. M. Yasin, Reader, Department of Pol. Science, NBU, for providing me very valuable reading materials from time to time.

I am extremely indebted to my colleagues of Balurghat College specially the teachers of the Department of Political Science who were overburdened with classes during my absence for study leave. I must gratefully remember Late Prof. J. Das Talukdar, former Principal, Balurghat College, for his kind co-operation and encouragement.

I owe special debt to Prof. P.K. Datta, Prof. Bharati Mukherjee and Prof. A. Mukherjee of Calcutta University for their valuable discussion and exchanged my view when I met them at the Refresher Course organised by the Department of Political Science, NBU.

My thanks are due to the Librarian and other Staff of Central Library, University of North Bengal, who were never tired of helping me.

I also take this opportunity to record my sincere thanks to many governmental and elected officials of Dakshin Dinajpur Zilla Parishads and District Rural Development Agency for their cooperation and kind help in providing necessary information and official documents and spared long hours to provide me the needed information. Yet, I shall be failing in my duty if I omit to mention Mr. Biswanath Das, a devoted employee of D. Dinajpur Zilla Parishad, Mr. Ajit Kr. Ghosh, Executive Engineer, Dakshin Dinajpur, Z.P.,

Mr. Ranjit Karmakar, Mr. Debarata Chakraborty, District Planning Office, and Sri Manmatha Choudhury, Office Superintendent, D. Dinajpur Collectorate.

I feel equally privileged to recall the genuine inspiration and encouragement that I received from my family members and relatives. Debasis, my husband has motivated me into action. He had been shouldering additional burden of home-management in smiling face. My daughter, Tora, had kept me cheerful during the period of sustained labour. Both of them are constant source of inspiration for me. My heart felt love and affection are due to them. The inspiration and encouragement that I derived from my father is gracefully remembered.

I would like to record my deep sense of gratitude to my mother whose sad and untimely death has left a serious gap. She had very keen interest in my study and always inspired me.

I should also recollect the memory of my father-in-law, during his life always encouraged me and enquired the progress of my study.

I am also thankful to D.T.P. Centre, Centre for Adult and Continuing Education, NBU, for draft typing, computer composition and making the final print of the thesis.

Finally, the present study has been carried out with the financial support of the University Grants Commission. I am thankful to the Commission.

Dated :
Department of Political Science
University of North Bengal
Raja Rammohunpur
Darjeeling - 734 430.

Bandana Ghosh
(Bandana Ghosh)
3/11/97