

Acknowledgements

The present work was carried out under the supervision of Dr. Hillol Kr. Chakrabarti, Professor of economics, North Bengal University. I wish to express my deep sense of gratitude and indebtedness to him for his constant guidance, invaluable advice and unfailing interest at all stages of my work. My interest in this particular field grew out of my interaction with him. To speak the truth, as a first step of my research work, I had much diversity in thinking, but his careful eye always guided me in right path. I am aware of errors still remain but without his help there would have been many more.

I would also like to express my gratitude to Dr. K. K. Bagchi, Head of the Dept. of Econ., N. B. U., and also to Prof. J. C. Debnath, Prof. C. K. Mukhopadhyay, Sri J. Sankrityana, Smt. S. Mukherjee, Dr. A. Bhumali, Smt. S. Roy and Sri T. R. Mazumdar, the teachers at the Department of Economics, North Bengal University, for their kind assistance at the time of my need. My thanks go to all my teacher colleagues, principal and office staff at Sukanta Mahavidyalaya, Dhupguri, Jalpaiguri and especially to Sri Niranjan Pal, Ex-Principal of Sukanta Mahavidyalaya for their constant encouragement. Thanks must go to President and all other members of the Governing Body, Sukanta Mahavidyalaya, Dhupguri, Jalpaiguri, from whom I got much help to carry on my research work. Needless to say that my present work would not have seen the daylight, had not Dr.(Mrs) Bhaswati B. Chakrabarti, Professor of Philosophy, North Bengal

University, allowed me sufficient time to discuss problems related to my work with my supervisor. I owe a special gratitude to her. I must also remember with love and thanks, the generous help and support that I received from a number of government institutions, from some local peoples and also from the farmers who spared a part of their busy day to satisfy my queries. I am thankful to Computer Centre, Sukanta Mahavidyalaya for rendering computer work. Special thanks I would like to give to Sri Sanjib Das, Centre Manager, Sukanta Mahavidyalaya Computer Centre, from whom I received immense help in typing and printing of the thesis. I also appreciate the help provided by the Library Staff of North Bengal University and Dhupguri College.

No words are perhaps adequate enough to express my debts to my wife Smt. Tumpa Konar, who looked after the family when I remained busy with my research work. I am also indebted to my children Sayantan and Mouli who had silently accepted non-availability of teaching guidance of any form from their father.

I also express my wholehearted regards to my father. At this moment, I remember my departed mother, who, I believe would have been glad to see the thesis completed during her lifetime.

Swapan Kanti Konar