CHAPTER 7

REFERENCES
REFERENCES

Atkinson, Philip E. (1990) "Creating Culture Change : The key to successful Total Quality Management". IFS Ltd., Wolseley Road, Wolseley Business Park, Kempston, Bedford MK 427 PW, UK.

Crosby, P. B.(1979); “Quality is Free” Mc Graw – Hill, New York, NY.

Deming W.E. (1993), 'The new economics for industry, government, education', Centre for advanced engineering study, Massachusetts Institute of technology, Cambridge, MA.

"Engineering Capability of contractors". Software engineering Institute Technical reports SEI-87-TR-23. Software engineering Institute, Pittsburgh, PA

Humphrey, W.S., (1989); "Managing the software process", Addison - Wesley Publication Co., Reading, Massachusetts, USA.

ISO-9000- 3 (1991); "Guidelines for the application of ISO-9001 to the Development, Supply and Maintenance of software".

Kondo and Yoshio, (1994); “Creativity versus work standardization" EQQ Proceedings Vol.1 P 82.

Mak, W.M. (2000), The Tao of people based management, Total quality management, Vol. 11, No 4-6.

Mik Wisnicki., (2001); “Management Science News” Vol 8 No.2 September University of Strathclyde, Scotland.

Nozer D Singpurwala, (1999); “A probabilistic hierchical classification model for rating suppliers”. Journal of Quality Technology Vol 31 No.4 October 1999

Shigeru Uede (2001). The quest for global competitiveness through National Quality and Business Excellence Award. Asian Productivity Organisation, Hirakawacho, Chiyoda-Ku, Tokyo, Japan

Quality System Requirements QS-9000; "The fundamental quality system expectations of Chrysler, Ford, General Motors".
