

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

During the preparation of this dissertation many person have helped me in various ways. I am glad to owe my gratitude to them. First of all, I am thankful to Department of History, North Bengal University, Darjeeling for giving me the opportunity to pursue this research work.

My Ph.D supervisor Prof. (Dr.) Anita Bagchi, to whom I express my gratefulness for her guidance, advice and encouragement. It must not be sounding exaggerating, mentioning here, as she is my true mentor. I also express my admiration to Dr. Malaysankar Bhattacharyya, the Editor, The Historical Review for his compassion to my dissertation. He provided me with a lot of articles and books relevant to my research. Without their all time guidance and encouragement, this thesis would not have been possible. Their valuable suggestions help me to get rid of my writing blocks. I am grateful to Dr. Dahlia Bhattacharyya, Head of the Department, Department of History, University of North Bengal and also want to express my sincere thanks to my teachers Prof. Ratna Roy Sanyal, Prof. AnandaGopalGhosh, Prof. IchhamuddinSarkar and Prof. Bijoy Kumar Sarkar. I am also indebted to Dr. Sudash Lama and SriVarun Kumar Roy for their help. I want express my gratitude to other faculty members, Dr.DipshikhaAcharya, Dr. Tahiti Sarkar, Dr. VermaPriyadarshini and Dr. Amrita Mandal. I also want to thank to the office staffs Smt. Sharmistha Das and Sri SomnathDey.

I would like to thank the authorities of District Museums of Malda, DakshinDinajpur and Uttar Dinajpur, Balurghat Collage Museum, Akshay Kumar Maitreya Museum, Indian Museum, Kolkata, State Museums of West Bengal etc. for helping me to understand the artifacts.

I remain grateful to Prof. Himangshu Kumar Sarkar, VangaRatna for introducing me with the inscriptions through his masterly knowledge. This list could not be completed without mentioning the name of LateDhananjay Roy, an informal researcher of Kaliaganj, who took me to the research world.

I also like to express my thanks to MoktarAlam of Itahar, Rubel Islam of Methrani, SwapanTudu of Ganeshbhita, my students from Asuragarh, Arup Saha of Bangarh, SattwakiChakravarty of Malda, AfsarAlam of Amati, Mrinmoyee Sing of Aminhat, Vishnu Barman of EkdalaBairhatta, Tapas Kanti Das of Tarangapur High School, SwarnamayAdhikary of Kaliaganj and many of my friends who helped me to reach my desired archaeological sites. From the core of my heart, I am thankful to the inhabitants of the archaeological sites, who allow me to enter their houses and to access their collections. I am indebted to ArpitaSaha, Malda for her help in preparation of relevent maps for the thesis.

I would like to extend my thanks to the officer-in-charge of Raiganj PS, Itahar PS, Hemtabad PS, Kushmandi PS, Gangarampur PS, Balurghat PS, English Bazar PS, Karandighi PS and so on for their permission to access their recovered sculptures.

Above all, I would like give full credit of this thesis to my MaaSashthiAdhikary, who feed me up in spite of all odds of our life. I want to thank my wife ChandanSaha for her untiring care to my two daughters, which allows me to concentrate on my thesis.