

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This research was carried out largely while I was approved for UGC – FIP Scheme from 01.02.2005 to 31.01.2008 for a required course with the supervision of Professor Jeta Sankrityayana, in the Department of Economics, University of North Bengal. My biggest debts of gratitude are to my Supervisor, Professor Jeta Sankrityayana. I am deeply indebted to all of my teachers and faculty members of Department of Economics, University of North Bengal, who have provided constant encouragement, invaluable suggestion, and kind cooperation while my research was being developed till the end of my submission.

I also owe much to many of my friends and colleagues for their moral support. In the process of pursuing this research, I have been benefited from ideas and criticisms of many friends and colleagues. I wish to express my sincere thanks to all of my colleagues to my college. Thanks are due to all my colleagues whose constant encouragement inspired me as always. I am extremely indebted to my colleague Dr. Parthasarathi Chakraborty in providing me generous support. I am particularly grateful to Dr. Debkumar Mukherjee for his generous help. I am highly indebted to my colleague Mithun Datta for speeding up my submission. I would like to express my thanks to Mr. Babul Biswas for formatting of thesis volume. I would like to thank to them who have helped me in binding my Ph.D. thesis in a volume.

Special thanks are due to my family especially my wife and son, who ensured relentless and untiring the logistic support and for their diligent and meticulous cooperation during every stage of my research till finally that gets submitted and their sacrifice made my Ph.D. research submission possible.

I would like to pay my tributary homage by dedicating this research to my late father, late father-in-law, and late two brothers in law who had tremendous wishes and blessings but could not see that I have made possible my submission. Finally this has been offered in deep gratitude with the blessings of Almighty God.

Date:

---

Kalyan Das