

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I thank to Shri. Bidyut Sarkar, Divisional Forest Officer, Jalpaiguri Forest Division; Shri. Sushanta Chakraborty, Official head and Sri Rajib Dey, Ranger, Dalgaon Range Office, Hamiltongange Range Officer, Field Director, Deputy Field Director and officials (West and East) of Buxa Tiger Reserve for their valuable support for this work. In spite of busy schedule their valuable suggestions have really been an inspiration and driving force for me. They have constantly provided valuable inputs for carrying out this research thesis successfully.

I would like to thank all the DFOs, Range, Bear Officers and other officials of the Forest Department of District of Jalpaiguri and Alipurduar as well as officials of DM office of Alipurduar and Jalpaiguri District and Somnath Chatterjee who helped and rendered their valuable time, knowledge and information during the field trips. I take this opportunity to thank all the forest villagers for patiently co-operating me and helping me to fulfill the research objective.

I would like to thank my supervisor Dr. Deepak Kumar Mandal, Professor for the proper presentation of this long pursuit and for the real autonomy, he has given to me, so that I could explore the topic and enrich my own views. I express my sincere thanks to my parents, my wife, son and all the family members for all their sacrifices they have made in supporting and motivating me through all difficult moments.

I would like to thank University of North Bengal for support and also providing the institutional facilities whenever needed. I am thankful to all the respected teachers prof. Subir Sarkar, Prof. S. Rohatgi, Prof. R. Roy, Prof. I. Lepcha, Dr. S. Saha, Dr. S. Bhattacharya, Dr. A. Basak for their valuable suggestions and also other teaching faculty members and non-teaching staff members of the Department of Geography & Applied Geography, University of North Bengal for their kind cooperation.

Lastly, I am grateful to my family members, well wishers and followers for their co-operation and encouragement.
