The present research work is the outcome of the researcher's keen interest about the tribal people which never comes true without the endless help and support of various people to whom I am indebted for. So, I take this opportunity to extend my heartiest thanks to all of them.

I express my deepest gratitude to my supervisor Prof. Sushma Rohatgi, Department of Geography and Applied Geography, North Bengal University, whose valuable suggestions, kind advice and constant guidance helps me in every step of preparation of this thesis. Without her support and encouragement, this research work will never get the present shape.

I extend my special thanks to all the teachers of Department of Geography and Applied Geography, North Bengal University for their valuable suggestions which has helped to improve the present study extensively.

I also convey my sincere thanks to Pramod Nath who has some notable works on the tribal people of North Bengal. The discussion with him about the different aspects of tribal life helps me to understand the tribes of this area.

I would also like to acknowledge my gratitude to Asha Xess, Shefali Hembrom and Naresh Chandra Mahato for being so kind to me every time and helping me in my field work. As a part of the tribal society of this district, their experience, views and opinion help me a lot to develop my concept clearly.

I am highly grateful to Dr. Jadab Chandra Halder, Department of Geography, Gangarampur College for his constant support in my research work. I also thank my colleagues Asit Paul and Bratin Saha for their encouragement to complete this study.

The biggest support in my life is my family. My parents Amalendu Ghosh and Bela Ghosh are the constant source of inspiration in my life. They always inspire me to chase my dreams. No word is enough to extend my gratitude to my parents. I would like to acknowledge my gratitude to my sisters Susmita Ghosh and Sagarika Ghosh for encouraging me all the time. My special thanks go to my friend Sunita Bhakat for her endless support in my research work. I am also thankful to Shubhashis Ghosh, Mita Ghosh and Lalima Bhattacharya for their support and encouragement.

I am extremely indebted to all my respondents for their kind co-operation during the field survey. I extend my thanks to all the staffs of National Library, Kolkata, North Bengal University Central Library and Dakshin Dinajpur District Library for providing relevant books related to my thesis. Lastly, I thank Dhar Brothers for their sincere help in binding and printing my thesis.
