

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Research, though an enterprise taken up by the Researcher for his own academic fulfilment but it is not possible to complete this job by the researcher himself without the help and co-operation of the supervisor and also the well wishers. In this regard, I have a moral obligation to acknowledge them without whose help, valuable suggestions and co-operation my humble effort would not have seen the light of the day.

At first, I express my sincerest gratitude to my supervisor Dr. Kantilal Das, a celebrated and dynamic Professor, Deptt. of Philosophy, North Bengal University, who has been guiding me from the very beginning through his continuous encouragement and valuable suggestions inspite of his busy academic schedules. I am also grateful to the faculty members of the Department of Philosophy for their utmost cooperation and valuable suggestions in completing this thesis. I am grateful to the librarian and the staff of the central Library, N.B. University for giving me opportunity to use the library. I am also grateful to the Registrar, N.B. University for his suggestions and help in completing the research activity.

I extend my sincere gratitude to the Director and staff member of the I.C.P.R. for giving me permission to use the Library of ICPR and also to collect photocopy of related books. I also extend my indebtedness to the principal, faculty members, staff and the members of the Governing Body of N. H. College for their help in the completion of the research activity.

I am also very much thankful to my wife Himakshi and daughters, Darsana, Kangkana and Ananya for their continuous encouragement and support during the entire course. I am indebted to all the members of my family for their co-operation in this regard.

Last but not the least, I have to admit that Humanism is a vast subject and certainly I have not been able to explain the pros and cons of it. I have to have more clarifications on many points as regards the topic. With all submissions I would like to say that I have taken maximum care to make my work flawless. However, if inadvertently any flaw remains in conceptual or linguistic level then I shall be personally responsible for this.
