

Acknowledgement

At the very outset I feel privilege to acknowledge that it would not be possible for me to play my role of duty if I don't record my debt to those who have inspired and co-operated me to complete my research.

At first I would like to express my high sense of gratitude and sincere regard to my teacher and supervisor Prof. Kanti Lal Das, Department of Philosophy, University of North Bengal for his valuable guidance, encouragement, and constructive suggestions during the period of my research. In fact, he has been the pathfinder of me. When I was in puzzle regarding the conceptual clarification of developing the thesis on innumerable occasions, his advice immensely helped me to overcome. Without his kind and constant help this challenging task would not be possible to complete within the stipulated period. My dream became success simply for the sheer sacrifice of my supervisor Prof. Kantilal Das. In my childhood I was struggling for basic needs and at that time I was like a pebble of foot-path. Today I am not jewel but what I am, is the harvest of his well advices and well wishes that I could achieve.

I am also deeply indebted to my teachers of the Department of Philosophy, namely, Prof. Raghunath Ghosh, Dr. Jyotish Ch. Basak (presently the Head of the Faculty), Dr. Anirban Mukherjee; former teachers Prof. Manjulika Ghosh, Prof. Bhaswati B. Chakraborty and Prof. Chandidas Bhattacharya. Their constructive comments, suggestions and advices make me determined and studious. I owe my high regard to all of them.

I also thank the librarian, the Deputy Librarian, the staff of the Central Library of North Bengal University for their kind helps from time to time during my research. I have been immensely benefited by the Central Library of North Bengal University. I also indebted to the staff of the Registrar branch for their kind cooperation. I have been equally benefited by the Seminar Library of the Department of Philosophy of North Bengal University where I have found so many relevant books. I pay my thanks to the staff of the Seminar Library as well as the office bearers of the Department of Philosophy in this regard.

I shall be failing short of my duty if I do not record my debt to my teacher Dr. Subhash Saha Roy, former professor of Cooch-Bihar College. It is he who has laid the foundation of my education. I am very much grateful to my well wisher Smt. Shefali Das (Sarkar), teacher of Chamta Deshbandhu high school, who inspired me time to time for completing my research.

I would also express my heartfelt thanks to my spouse Mrs. Artery Sarkar who scarifies so many happy moments in expense of the completion of this thesis since our marriage. I also owe my best tribute to the Principal Dr. Afzal Hossain, my colleagues, friends, students, relatives and all my well wishers who are directly or indirectly involved with me in completing this thesis.

University of North Bengal

Bijay K n Sarkar
18.6.12
Bijay Kumar Sarkar

Date: