

Contents

	Page
Acknowledgements	ii
List of Tables and Figures	vi-viii
Abbreviations Used in the Thesis	ix
Chapter 1 : The Incidence and Importance of Agrarian Interlinkages	1-21
1.1 The Underlying Issue	1
1.2 Agrarian Backwardness and Interlinkages	1
1.3 Purposes of Investigations	3
1.3.1 The Primary Investigation	3
1.4 A Survey of the Literature	4
1.4.1 Rural-Economic Stagnation	4
1.4.2 Interlinkage : The Theoretical Framework	6
1.4.3 Empirical Investigation	11
1.5 Design of Study	14
1.6 Structure of Investigation	19
Chapter 2 : Economic and The Agrarian Situation of Cooch Behar District	22-41
2.1 General Features	22
2.1.1 Location and Boundary	22
2.1.2 Brief History	22
2.2 Human Resources	23
2.2.1 Population Growth	23
2.2.2 Composition of SC and ST	23
2.2.3 Literacy Level	24
2.2.4 Urbanisation	25
2.2.5 Occupational Pattern	26
2.3 Natural Preconditions	27
2.3.1 River System	27
2.3.2 Pedology and Climate	28
2.3.3 Forest Resources	28
2.3.4 Mineral Resources	28
2.4 Transport and Communication	29
2.5 Industry	30
2.5.1 Consumption of Electricity	32
2.6 Agriculture	32
2.6.1 Agrarian Structure	32
2.6.2 Land-Use Pattern	33
2.6.3 Cropping Pattern	35
2.6.4 Production Trends and Productivity	35
2.6.5 State of Irrigation	36
2.6.6 Fertilizer Consumption	38

2.7	Rural Credit Situation	39
2.8	A Backward District	40
Chapter 3	: Agrarian Interlinkages among Owner Cultivators	42-67
3.1	Introduction	42
3.2	Socio-Economic Status of Pure Owners	42
3.3	Access to Formal and Informal Credit	45
3.4	Typology of Informal Loans	47
3.5	Sources of Informal Loans	48
3.6	Informal Loans and Interlinkages	51
	3.6.1 Types and Extent of Interlinkages	56
3.7	Terms of Borrowing from Informal Sources	58
3.8	Variation in Interest Rates Over Linked and Non-linked Credit Transactions	62
3.9	The Character of Interlinkages among Owner Cultivators	66
Chapter 4	: Agrarian Interlinkages among Tenant Cultivators	68-88
4.1	Issues in Tenancy	68
4.2	Socio-Economic Status	68
4.3	Some Aspects of Tenancy Relations	71
	4.3.1 Recording of Barga Rights	71
	4.3.2 Tenurial Arrangements	73
4.4	Access to Rural Credit Market	75
4.5	Typology of Informal Loans	76
4.6	Sources of Informal Loans	77
4.7	Landlords as a Source of Interlinkage	78
	4.7.1 Tenancy-Credit Linkage	78
	4.7.2 Tenancy-Labour Linkage	79
4.8	Informal Loans and Interlinkages	81
4.9	Types and Extent of Interlinkages	83
4.10	Terms of Borrowing	86
4.11	The Character of Interlinkages among Tenant Cultivators	87
Chapter 5	: Econometric Analysis of Interlinkages among Landless Labourers	89-112
5.1	Introduction	89
5.2	Channels of Creditor-Control	89
5.3	Sample Characteristics	90
	5.3.1 Typology of Agricultural Labourers	92
	5.3.2 Rural Credit and Landless Agricultural Labourers	92
5.4	Borrowing from Larger Cultivators	93
	5.4.1 The Case of Semi-attached Labourers	93
	5.4.2 The Case of Attached Labourers (Farm Servants)	98
	5.4.3 Non-Linked Credit to Casual Labourers	99
5.5	Borrowing from Village Shopkeeper	100

5.6	Graphical Analysis	100
5.7	An Evaluation of Characteristics	101
5.8	A Micro-Study of Intra-Sample Variations in Interest Rates	102
5.9	Analysis of Qualitative Factors : ACOV Dummy Regression Model	107
5.10	Scaling and Relative Importance of Qualitative Factors	109
5.11	Conclusion from the Econometric Study	111
Chapter 6 : Summary, Findings and Suggestions for Rural Credit Reforms		113-130
6.1	The Issues in the Study	113
	6.1.1 Background Characteristics	114
	6.1.2 Analytical Hypothesis	114
6.2	Observations of the Study	116
	6.2.1 The Rural Credit Market	116
	6.2.2 The Interlocking of Transactions	116
	6.2.3 Typology of Linkages	118
	6.2.4 Impact of Linkages	119
	6.2.5 Extended Observations	120
6.3	Regression Analysis	123
6.4	Review of Findings	125
6.5	Suggested Interventions	126
	6.5.1 Entry & Delivery of Formal Credit	127
	6.5.2 The Cooperative Structure	128
6.6	Developing an Agrarian Economy	130
Bibliography		131-138