The present thesis embodies the results of research carried out by the author at the Department of Chemistry, University of North Bengal, Raja Ramohunpur, Darjeeling.

The author takes this opportunity to record his grateful thanks to Dr. H.S.Khaetgir, Professor of Chemistry, University of North Bengal, for his valuable suggestions, guidance and keen interest throughout the research programme.

The author is highly indebted to Dr. A.Duffield and Dr. L.J. Durham, Department of Chemistry, Stanford University, California, Dr. G.R.Pettit, Professor of Chemistry and Director, Cancer Research Institute, Arizona State University, Tempe, Arizona, Professor Peter Brown, Department of Chemistry, Arizona State University, Tempe, Arizona, Dr. B.C.Das, Institute de Chimie des Substances Naturelles, Gif - Sur - Yvette, France, Dr. S.C.Pakrashi, Assistant Director, Indian Institute for Experimental Medicine, Calcutta and to Dr. D.B. Haskar, Multi-Chem Research Centre, Mandeswari, Baroda for the NMR and mass spectra recorded in the thesis. The author is deeply grateful to Dr. S.K.Sengupta, East India Pharmaceutical Works Ltd, Calcutta for the optical rotations recorded in the thesis. Thanks are also due to Mr. S.L.Dutta, Scientific Officer, Chemistry Department, North Bengal University for the UV and IR spectra recorded in the thesis.

(II)

The author expresses his warmest thanks to Dr. D.N. Misra, Dr. B.P. Pradhan, Dr. P.K. Ray, Dr. K. Chatterjee, Mr. A. Dasgupta, Mr. A. Goswami, Mr. A. Nath, Mr. H. Mukherjee, Mr. A. Masumdar, his friends and all the research fellows of North Bengal University for their kind cooperation and encouragement during the progress of the work. Special thanks are due to Mr. R. Das and Mr. A. Masumdar for their constant inspiration during the last few years.

The author is grateful to CSIR, New Delhi and UGC, New Delhi for the award of research fellowship, and to the authorities of North Bengal University for extending laboratory facilities.

The author is indebted to Prof. S.K. Chakravarti, Head of the Department of Chemistry and Dean of the Faculty of Science, University of North Bengal for his keen interest and encouragement.

Finally, the author expresses his deep regards to his brother, sister and parents for their inspiration and encouragement during the progress of the work.
