

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

In order to complete my study, a number of individuals and institutions have helped me in more than one way. I feel privileged to have received guidance, advice, comments, and positive criticism from many academicians the world over.

First and foremost, I acknowledge the valuable role played by my Guide, Dr. Palas R. Sengupta, Professor, Department of Commerce, University of North Bengal, Darjeeling, whose patience, willing support and unending enthusiasm in going through all the written work sustained me during the course of research and kept me going till the end. His patience with my idiosyncrasies was indeed exemplary and he deserves my heart felt gratitude on this enviable virtue of his. I take this opportunity to express my profound gratitude and deep regards to him for his valuable guidance by providing me with timely advice and directing my study in the right direction during the research work. His promptness in giving me feedback on my rough drafts facilitated the uninterrupted progress of the study. It is primarily due to him that I could complete my work. His exemplary guidance, monitoring and constant encouragement throughout the course of this thesis work, made me strive harder to complete the research work in time. The help and guidance given by him from time to time shall carry me a long way in my professional life as well as my future endeavours.

I am grateful to my colleague, Wg Cdr Atanu Guru, for his constant shock-treatment, without which I would have never stirred out of my slumber. His critical comments on my draft are also acknowledged with gratitude. I am also grateful to Dr Nand Gopal and Shri Arul Rajan of PSG Institute of Management for their valuable assistance in analysis of data and its subsequent interpretation.

Sincere appreciation is also extended to authority of University of North Bengal for all the help extended to me in terms of availing of reference material and other facilities. I am also thankful to the faculty members of Department of Commerce, NBU for providing me with administrative support as and when it was required.

I am grateful to College of Defence Management, Secunderabad for letting me avail the excellent library facilities and extending their support and cooperation when ever it was requested. Special mention deserves to be made of my appreciation of the unremitting help and cooperation provided by Mr. Shrikant in hunting for some of the elusive literature, relevant for the study. I am also grateful to Mrs. Reena Sharma for her help in my literature search.

I also thank various units in public and private sector Units for letting me carry out field research in their establishments.

Last but not the least; I put on record a special word of appreciation for my beloved wife Sunita for her encouragement and sacrifice. Her unending enthusiasm in going through all the written work and patience is what sustained me during the course of the research. In those moments when the going got tough, it was her support and presence which could see me go through the course work. I am extremely obliged to Ayushi, my daughter, and Anchit, my son, who pulled through admirably with my prolonged renunciation of family responsibilities.

My several well-wishers helped me directly or indirectly; I virtually fall short of words to express my gratefulness to them. Therefore I am leaving this acknowledgement incomplete In their reminiscence.
