

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

My greatest intellectual debt is to my supervisor Dr. Manjulika Ghosh, both for originally introducing me to problems of epistemology as my teacher in the Post-graduate class, and also for providing me many thoughts and challenging remarks and suggestions, which in a way, stimulated me to persevere in the face of the initial difficulty of my research. Her invariably penetrating questions and objections very often forced me to revise and clarify my views on the issues discussed herein.

I am grateful to my teachers in the Department of Philosophy for their kindness and courtesey shown to me.

My fellow colleague, S.M.Rakibuz Zaman, Assistant Professor, Darjeeling Govt. College deserves thanks for helping me typing the final copy. I thank my friend, Mr. Subal Chandra Barman, Assistant Professor, Mirik College, for providing me excellent hospitality during my stay in Siliguri in connection of my work and helping me in every way possible.

I thank Mr. Sandip Paul of Universal Cyber Café for excuting the thesis in a presentable manner.

I thank my parents for their blessings and inspiration.

I thank my wife, Sumitra Barman, who was a constant and invaluable source of encouragement and comfort.

Nirmalendu Mandal
(Nirmalendu Mandal)