First of all I would like to express my deep indebtedness to my Supervisors Dr. D.J.Bhaumik, Retired Professor of Political Science N.B.U. and Dr. M. Yasin, Professor of Political Science N.B.U., without whose invaluable guidance and sustained interest and encouragement, this thesis would not have seen the light of the day.

I also thank all those who helped me with my work, directly or indirectly, in one way or the other. To name some of them would be like forgetting the others and to name all would not be possible. However, I express gratitude for the help I received from many individuals and institutions in the process of collecting materials and interviewing the relevant persons. I remain grateful to the work of numerous scholars from whose works, as recorded in the bibliography I have derived abundantly.

I thank my father and brother for ungrudgingly giving me the opportunity to put in hours of solitude to my work. I dedicate this work in memory of my beloved mother who died on 16th August 2004. She wanted to see the completion of this work but was not able to.
