

A C K N O W L E D G E M E N T S

The present dissertation would not have been complete without the help, guidance and suggestions of Dr. N.C. Choudhury (former Professor and Head of the Department of Sociology and Social Anthropology, North Bengal University), my teacher and supervisor. I take the opportunity to express my deep gratitude towards him.

Dr. Rajat Subhra Mukhopadhyaya of North Bengal University helped me in sharpening my initial ideas and preparing the Schedule. I owe special debts to him.

I had highly fruitful talks with Dr. Sanjay Kumar Roy, Dr. Tanka Bahadur Subba and Dr. Namita Choudhury, all of North Bengal University. I candidly express my gratefulness to all of them.

I also take this opportunity to extend my thanks to Shri M. Chakraborty, who has typed the thesis in a rush.

Thanks are also due to Shri Nirmal Chanda, Department of Geography, North Bengal University, for drawing the map. The co-operation and help received from all respondents and informants are also gratefully acknowledged.

Finally, I am grateful to the authorities of the North Bengal University for providing me with a University fellowship through the Department of Sociology & Social Anthropology.

SANKAR ROY
(SANKAR ROY)