

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

First and foremost, I express my deep sense of gratitude to my parents who grew me up and taught me to frame myself in the society of responsibilities. My vote of thanks bear the stamp of gratitude to my esteemed teacher and revered supervisor Dr. Pradip Kr. Sengupta, Prof. of Political Science, whose inspiration has facilitated me to unleash my enthusiasm and take a bold step for this endeavour.

I offer my thanks to the staff and members of the Central Library of North Bengal University and the Library of the Law Department, who have actively supported me with immense unexplored parts. I owe my gratitude to the Head of the Dept. Of Law, Professor Gangotri Chakraborty, who has always encouraged me for the completion of this work. Last and not the least, I express my thanks to Mr. Subir Das Mahanta and Mr. Monojit Nath who have taken utmost care for transfiguring this work in a complete shape. We fall to rise and sleep to wake, so betterment for all and with this rational concept, I wish all to plumb and work in the present for better future.

Lastly, I thank all those who have contributed directly or indirectly towards the completion of the present work.
