

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I acknowledge my sincere gratitude to Dr. Jasobanta Kar, Professor of History, North Bengal University, under whose supervision I submitted this dissertation and but for whose tireless efforts, this work would not have seen the light of world. I also acknowledge my debt to him for use of extensive materials from his different research works in some relevant places in this dissertation.

I am also thankful to the Director of the National Archives of India for his sincere help to me in getting my access to all the necessary archival materials for my work, especially the recently released I.N.A. records.
