

TABLE OF CONTENTS

	PAGE NO.
TITLE PAGE
DECLARATION	ii
CERTIFICATE OF SUPERVISOR	iii
ANTI-PLAGIARISM REPORT	iv-v
ABSTRACT	vi-ix
ACKNOWLEDGEMENT	x-xi
TABLE OF CONTENTS	xii-xvi
LIST OF FIGURES	xvii-xviii
LIST OF TABLES	xix-xxii
LIST OF ABBREVIATIONS	xxiii-xxiv
CHAPTER 1 INTRODUCTION	1-30
1.1 Introduction	1
1.2 Problem Statement	4
1.3 Review of Literature	7
1.3.1 Literature on Global Perspective of Tribal Development	7
1.3.2 Literature on Tribal Development in India	10
1.3.3. Literature on Tribal Livelihood and Resource Linkages	12
1.4 Research Objectives	16
1.5 Research Questions	17
1.6 Research Hypothesis	18
1.6.1 Hypothesis Related to the Impact of Economic Development Policies on Tribal Livelihood	18
1.6.2. Hypothesis Related to Inequity and Tribal Development Policies	19
1.6.3 Hypothesis Related to Marginalization and Tribal Development	19
1.7 Design of Study	20
1.7.1 Introduction to Study Area	20
1.7.2 Methodology	21
1.7.3 Sample Selection and Survey	22
1.8 Chapters in the thesis	22
1.9 Conclusion	24
Chapter References	26
CHAPTER 2 SOCIO ECONOMIC BACKGROUND OF TRIBES IN SUB-HIMALAYAN WEST BENGAL	31-63
2.1 Introduction	31
2.2 Historical Account of Tribal Communities in Sub-Himalayan West Bengal	32
2.2.1. Landholding and Demographic Profile of Western Duars	34
2.2.2. Tea Plantation and Tribal Communities in Western Duars during Colonial Period	36

2.3 Administrative Profile of the Alipurduar and Jalpaiguri district	37
2.4 Demographic Profile of Scheduled Tribes in Jalpaiguri and Alipurduar District	39
2.4.1 Trends in Rural-Urban ST population	41
2.4.2 Inter-Decadal Changes in Male-Female Population of Scheduled Tribe Communities	43
2.4.3 Ethnic Communities in Scheduled Tribe	44
2.5 Distribution of Operational Landholding according to Size	45
2.5.1 Change in Operational landholdings of ST, SC and General in Jalpaiguri district	45
2.6 Inequality in Operational Landholdings	46
2.6.1 Concentration of Landholdings & Gini Coefficient	49
2.7 Occupational Distribution of Scheduled Tribes	51
2.7.1 Concentration of ST in Farm and Non-Farm Activities in Jalpaiguri district	51
2.7.2 Work Participation Rate (WPR) of ST	53
2.8 Educational Status of ST in the Study Districts	54
2.8.1 Variation in ST Literacy Rate in Study Region	54
2.8.2 Variation in Literacy rate among ST Communities	57
2.9 Sex Ratio of ST in Study Districts	58
2.10 Status of Health and Sanitation in the Two Districts	59
2.11. Conclusion	59
Chapter References	61
Appendices	63
Appendix Table 2.6.1 Operational Holdings & Area Operated Among ST, SC & General Population (2000-01)	63
Appendix: Table 2.6.2 Operational Holdings & Area Operated Among ST, SC & General Population (2015-16)	63
CHAPTER 3 INEQUITY IN LAND, LIVELIHOODS AND TRIBAL DEVELOPMENT IN INDIA	64-106
3.1 Introduction	64
3.1.1 Marginalisation and Peripheralization of ST community	66
3.1.2 Marginalisation and Land Alienation of ST	67
3.2 Tribal Development Policy in India	68
3.2.1 Policy Approach to Tribal Development in India	70
3.2.2 Constitutional Provision for the Safeguards of Scheduled Tribes Rights	71
3.2.3 Debate & Discourse on Tribal Development	73
3.2.4 Scheduled Tribe Development in West Bengal	76
3.2.5 Land Reforms and FRA 2006 in West Bengal	77
3.3 Agrarian Stratification in West Bengal	79
3.3.1 Distribution of Operational Holding of ST in West Bengal	79
3.3.2 Distribution of Operational Holdings of STs in Alipurduar & Jalpaiguri District	80
3.4 Distribution of Landholdings among various Social Groups from National Sample Survey (NSS) 70th round.	81
3.5 Agricultural Productivity of ST Households and their Access to Capital	84
3.5.1 Econometric Modelling on Agricultural Productivity & Access to Capital	85
3.5.2 Results of Binary Logistic Regression model on Rural ST Agricultural Productivity	87
3.5.3 Results of Binary Logistic Regression model on Rural non-ST

Agricultural Productivity	94
3.6 Conclusion	101
Chapter References	103
CHAPTER 4 REGIONAL HUMAN DEVELOPMENT TRENDS OF TRIBAL PEOPLE IN INDIA	107-129
4.1 Introduction	107
4.1.1 Overview of ST in West Bengal and Fifth & Sixth Schedule States of India	109
4.2 Trends in literacy among ST in West Bengal and States with Fifth and Sixth Schedule	111
4.2.1 Trends in Literacy Gap between ST and Other Group	111
4.2.2 Trends in Gross Enrolment Ratio at Primary level (2006-07 to 2015-16)	112
4.2.3 Trends in Gross Enrolment Ratio at Upper Primary Level (2006-07 to 2015-16)	113
4.2.4 Trends in Gross Enrolment Ratio at secondary (2006-07 to 2015-16)	114
4.2.5 Trends in Gross Enrolment Ratio of STs at Higher Secondary Level (2006-07 to 2015-16)	116
4.2.6 Dropout Rate of ST children	117
4.3 Trends in ST Health in India	117
4.4 Command over Resources	119
4.4.1 Occupational trends among ST in India	119
4.5 Extent of Deprivation	122
4.6 Human Development of STs in West Bengal	123
4.7 Conclusion	125
Chapter References	126
APPENDICES	128
Appendix Table 4.6.1 Human Development Indices for Districts of West Bengal, 2004	128
Appendix Table 4.6.2 Literacy Rate among ST, SC and All in West Bengal by Districts (2011)	129
CHAPTER 5 TRIBAL DEVELOPMENT IN FOREST & RIVERINE ECOREGION OF WEST BENGAL	130-165
5.1 Introduction	130
5.2 Profile of Study Villages in Kalchini CD Block of Alipurduar District	131
5.3 Socio-economic Characteristics of Household Head in the Study Villages	133
5.3.1 Male-Female Headed Household	134
5.3.2 Distribution of Religion of ST Households surveyed	134
5.3.3 Distribution of ST ethnic groups in the study villages of Alipurduar District	134
5.3.4. Distribution of age of Head of the Household in Study villages	135
5.3.5. Education level of the Household Heads	136
5.3.6 Household Type	137
5.4 Work Participation Rate	138
5.5 Occupational Pattern of STs in the Study villages of Alipurduar district	139
5.5.1 Farm and non-farm-based livelihood activities in Paschim Satali	140
5.5.2 Farm and non-farm-based livelihood activities in Madhya Satali	140
5.5.3 Migration of STs Household for Livelihood in Paschim Satali	140
5.6 Land Holding Pattern of ST Households in Study villages of Alipurduar

District	141
5.6.1 Size of Operational Land Holding of ST Communities in Study Villages	141
5.6.2 Type of land ownership	142
5.6.3 Cropping Pattern of ST Households	143
5.7 Livestock Holdings	144
5.8 Asset ownership of ST Households	145
5.9 Types of Houses	146
5.10 Sanitation facility	147
5.11 Compensation packages for damages from wild life or natural disasters in Study villages	147
5.12 Focus Group Discussion in Survey Villages of Alipurduar District	148
5.13 Rural Livelihood Diversification	151
5.13.1 Econometric Modelling on ST Rural Livelihood Diversification	151
5.13.2 Econometric Results for Livelihood Diversification in Alipurduar District	154
5.14 Conclusion	162
Chapter References	164

CHAPTER 6 TRIBAL DEVELOPMENT IN TERAI AND TEESTA ALLUVIUM ECOREGION OF WEST BENGAL 166-195

6.1 Introduction	166
6.2 Profile of Study Village of Matiali CD block of Jalpaiguri District	167
6.2.1 Salbari Village	168
6.2.2 Mathachulka Village	168
6.3 Socio-economic Characteristics of Head Member of Household in Study Villages	170
6.3.1 Male-Female ST Headed Households	170
6.3.2 Distribution of Religion of ST Household surveyed	170
6.3.3. Distribution of ST ethnic groups in the Study villages of Jalpaiguri district	171
6.3.4 Distribution of age of Head of the Household in Study villages	172
6.3.5. Education of Household Heads	173
6.3.6. Household Type	174
6.4 Work Participation Rate of ST Households in Study villages of Jalpaiguri District	175
6.5 Occupational Pattern of ST in Study villages of Jalpaiguri district	175
6.5.1 Farm and non-farm-based livelihood activities in Salbari	176
6.5.2 Farm and non-farm-based livelihood activities in Mathchulka	176
6.5.3 Migration of ST Household in Study villages of Jalpaiguri district	177
6.6 Land Holdings Pattern of ST Households in Study villages of Jalpaiguri District	177
6.6.1 Size of Operational Land Holding of ST Communities in Study Villages	177
6.6.2 Type of Ownership Holdings in the study villages of Jalpaiguri	178
6.6.3 Cropping Pattern of ST Households in study villages	179
6.7 Livestock Holdings in Study villages of Jalpaiguri district	180
6.8 Asset ownership of ST Households in study villages of Jalpaiguri district	181
6.9 Types of Houses	182
6.10 Sanitation facility	182
6.11 Focus Group Discussion in Survey Villages of Jalpaiguri district	182
6.12 Econometric analysis Livelihood Diversification of ST in Terai and Teesta Eco-region	186
6.13 Conclusion	194

Chapter References	195
CHAPTER 7 MARGINALISATION, DEPRIVATION AND VULNERABILITY AMONG TRIBAL COMMUNITIES IN THE SUB-HIMALAYAN WEST BENGAL	196-223
7.1 Marginalisation of ST communities	196
7.2 Vulnerability among ST Communities in Sub-Himalayan Region of West Bengal	198
7.2.1 Measuring Livelihood Vulnerability Index of STs in Study Area	199
7.2.2 Econometric Modelling on ST Households Vulnerability	204
7.2.3 Results and Discussion on ST household Vulnerability	205
7.3 Non-Farm Activities, Low Wages and Skill Formation in sub-Himalayan region of West Bengal	208
7.3.1 Model Specification	208
7.3.2 Results and Discussion of model for ST households	210
7.4. Conclusion	219
Chapter References	221
CHAPTER 8 REVIEW, FINDINGS & RECOMMENDATIONS	224-238
8.1 A Review of the Study	224
8.2 Research findings related to three group of Hypothesis	232
8.2.1. Research findings related to the impact of economic development policies on tribal livelihood	232
8.2.2. Research findings related to inequity and tribal development policies	234
8.2.3. Research findings related to marginalization and tribal Development	235
8.3 Extent of inequity and marginalisation of ST in Sub-Himalayan West Bengal	235
8.4 Variation in vulnerability among various ethnic ST groups in Sub-Himalayan West Bengal	236
8.5 Limitation of the study	236
8.6 Suggestion and recommendations	237
8.7 Issues for further research	238
ENDNOTES	239-241
BIBLIOGRAPHY	242-254
ANNEXURE -1: FGD QUESTIONNAIRE
ANNEXURE -2: FIELD SURVEY QUESTIONNAIRE - A
ANNEXURE -3: FIELD SURVEY QUESTIONNAIRE - B
ANNEXURE -4 PHOTOGRAPHS FORM FIELD WORK
ANNEXURE -5: JOURNAL PUBLICATION
ANNEXURE -6: SEMINAR CERTIFICATES	