

Acknowledgement

I am deeply indebted to my supervisor, Dr. Indira Lepcha (nee) Lama, Associate Professor, Department of Geography and Applied Geography, University of North Bengal for her invaluable guidance at every stage with her untiring and ever stimulating supervision, critical assessment, valuable comments and endless efforts in completing the thesis. I am grateful to Professor Subir Sarkar, Head of the Department, Department of Geography and Applied Geography, University of North Bengal and all the teachers of the Department for their inspiration, encouragement and suggestions.

I acknowledge with sincere thanks the assistance and cooperation of the citizens of Kurseong town without whom the collection of primary data intensively in the field without any difficulties would not have been possible. I am grateful to the government officials of various departments especially the authorities of Kurseong Municipality Office for their courtesy and help in providing all the available materials and necessary information. My thanks are also due to the officials and people who painstakingly made all possible arrangements for providing me with the required maps and data pertinent to my research work. I am thankful to my colleagues who always encouraged me by providing positive and constructive suggestions. I also express my gratitude with pleasure to Dr. Nima Doma Lama, Associate Professor, Siliguri College for going painstakingly through the entire manuscript and giving her valuable suggestions with sustained interest and active cooperation.

I cannot forget to acknowledge the encouragement and support of my family members who provided all possible help, relieved me of my domestic responsibilities and allowed me to devote long hours for study, free from family stress. I am grateful to my parents who helped me standing up to the challenges of my life by their profound affection and blessings. Finally, last but not the least, I owe my deep indebtedness to my husband and son for their unbounded love, moral support, incessant encouragement, inspiration and sacrifices, without which this thesis would never have been completed.
