

Acknowledgement

My acknowledgements here are not a mere perfunctory ritual but a genuine expression of gratitude to all those who offered me a valuable assistance. Of whom they are too many to list here. I thank my research supervisor, Dr. Rathin Bandyopadhyay, Reader and Former Head, Department of Law, for his academic guidance during my research. I learnt a great deal from his academic excellence and fine qualities. I consider myself very privileged to have benefited from his academic expertise. I greatly appreciate his assistance and concern for my well-being throughout my academic pursuit at the University of North Bengal. I am extremely grateful for his help.

I also take this opportunity to thank Prof. Gangothri Chakrovarty and Prof. B.P. Dwivedi for their invaluable guidance and assistance.

My thanks are due to all my Colleagues at Sikkim Government Law College, specially to Dr. Ganesh Ji tiwari who took great pain in going through my manuscript line by line and making valuable suggestions.

Many thanks are due to my whole family for being there for me. I also take this opportunity to thank my little son, Devashish Subedi, for his co-operation and understanding, who was only seven months old when I got myself registered for Ph. D. Now he urges others not to disturb mama because she is working!

At last, I would also like to thank each and every individual who has, directly or indirectly, made contribution in completing this work.
