

A C K N O W L E D G M E N T

In fact, I derived a great pleasure to work under Dr. Manas Dasgupta, Head of the Department of Economics, Dean of Art faculty, University of North Bengal. Perhaps words are insufficient to express my real sense of gratitude for his valuable guidances, inspiring encouragement and untiring efforts at all stages of this research project. It is quite needless to say that without his help, the present study would not have been the light of the day. He as a matter of fact, played a significant role in it. Besides his special attention in my work his deep commitment and involvement in the entire project have been important factors in the completion of this desideration. Despite his busy schedule he always took keen interest all along and spared considerable time for my work often sacrificing his extremely limited leisure time. I am deeply grateful to Dr. Manas Dasgupta for his valuable guidance.

I have my deep gratitude also to Dr. K.N.Chatterjee, Vice Chancellor, University of North Bengal and Mr. T.K. Chatterjee, Registrar, University of North Bengal.

I gratefully acknowledge the encouragement and assistance. I received from Depty. Librarian Shri D. Chaudhary and full staff of library of North Bengal University.

I am obliged to Jawahar Lal Nehru University, New Delhi and A centre of Nepal studies at Banaras Hindu University

Varanasi, for extending their all the facilities which were very-very useful for my research work. Without the co-operation of all these organisation the study would not have been so successful.

In writing this thesis, I received tremendous help from different quarters. One of them all is the benefit of bonafied member of Indian Air Force, a prestigious organisation, which has not only made me capable to undertake this project work by giving permission, positing etc. but has encouraged me time to time for my studies. It gives me releif to mention that the present work is the outcome of full co-operation to all concerned personnel of my organisation.

I am very much thankful to the Governments of Nepal for the valuable assistance I received from time to time to carry out my research work.

I feel committed if I deny that the thesis would have remained lying pending without the constant reminders of my mother. Lastly I am so much thankful to my all dearest and nearest for their constant co-operation in research work.

In the end, I shall be pleased and amply rewarded if this work puts the development in the rural Nepal in its perspective and raises human dignity and destiny.

North Bengal University,
District Darjeeling.

M.K. Rastogi
(M.K. Rastogi)