

Acknowledgement

I shall be failing in my duties if I do not record my debt to those who have substantially helped me to complete my Research Work. This section gives me an opportunity to express my respect to those persons.

I would first like to respectfully mention with deep gratitude the name of Late Professor Chandidas Bhattacharya, who was my teacher, guide and philosopher, under whom I had started my research. Particularly he had encouraged me to do my research in this particular area. His idea and philosophy had inspired me a lot. As special thanks toward his contribution this work is dedicated to him.

I very humbly express my indebtedness to Dr. Kantilal Das, Reader, Department of philosophy, North Bengal University, my supervisor of this work. In absence of Late Professor, Chandidas Bhattacharya, he had taken the responsibility as a Supervisor. I am grateful to him for his kind guidance, valuable suggestions whenever I needed within the time of his busy schedule and his active co-operation helped me to complete this thesis, within a stipulated period.

I am equally grateful to Professor Karunasindhu Das of Sanskrit Department, Rabindra Bharati University, who was the co-supervisor of my research work. In spite of his busy schedule and engagement, he spent a considerable time to go through the present work and gives valuable suggestions and remarks in this regard.

I am very much thankful to Prof. Noam Chomsky, Who has helped me by sending his valuable comments via mail.

I extend my thanks to every teacher of the department of Philosophy of North Bengal University from where I got the degrees of M.A and M.Phil. In this regard I particularly call upon the name of Dean of Arts, Commerce and Law, and Head of the department of philosophy, N.B.U, Prof. R. N. Ghosh, for his suggestions and valuable comments. I am also grateful to Prof. Pradip Sengupta, Ex-dean of Arts, Commerce and Law, N.B.U, for his whole hearted co-operation and constant inspiration in this regard.

I respectfully mention the valuable help I received from the staff of N.B.U. Central Library, National Library Kolkata, Central Library of Rabindra Bharati University, Departmental Library of Philosophy, N.B.U and the Library of Directorate of Distance Education, N.B.U. Without their help, it would be impossible for me to complete this work within this short span of time.

I am grateful to my friends, my well-wishers who helped me directly and indirectly in completing my research work.

Finally, though words are not adequate enough, I express my love and gratitude to my parents and my brother who have always been my source of strength, inspiration and emotional support.

June 2008

Tripti Dhar
Philosophy Department
University of North Bengal