

PREFACE

The thesis presents the results of various physicochemical investigations on clay-organic matter mixtures to ascertain the nature of interaction of the organic material with the inorganic materials present in the soil.

The work was carried out in the Physical Chemistry Laboratory of the Department of Chemistry, North Bengal University, Darjeeling .