

Acknowledgement

First of all I would like to convey my humble gratitude to my supervisor, Professor Anil Bhumali, Department of Economics, University of North Bengal who always kept on advising and encouraging me till my thesis being into published. All the time he allowed me to inquire into his wide area of knowledge in any matter regarding this thesis throughout the time. I also like to convey my gratitude to Dr. Swapan Kumar Rakshit, Deputy Registrar, University of North Bengal who jointly supervised my work.

My special thanks would go to Sri. Kalyan Dey, my friend and colleague who helped me in many ways. I also like to thank Sri Rajib Chowdhury, my student and colleague who helped me in computer work and collecting data. My other colleagues Prof. Kalyan Das, Dr. Siddhartha Sarkar and Prof. Satyen Sarkar helped immensely to get shaped my thesis.

I like to mention the names of library clerks of our college, Sri Khiten Baraik and Sri Dhiren Dakua who always helped me supplying books and journals as per my demands. I am thankful to library staff of the University of North Bengal and the Jalpaiguri District Library for their co-operation and support.

My special thanks would go to my loving wife Malabika and daughter Ruchira without whose sacrifice the work would not have been completed.

Parthasarathi Chakravarty
6.9.2010

(Parthasarathi Chakravarty)

Associate Professor in Commerce
Ananda Chandra College of Commerce
Jalpaiguri
West Bengal